Mr. Ghulam Qasim Bhatti, advocate for the applicant
Sardar Zafar Hussain, advocate for respondent

This reference application is prima facie time barred. CMA No.1058 of 2024, has been preferred seeking for the delay to be condoned. Per learned counsel’s admission, affidavit is devoid of any reason for the grant of application. The application itself avers that the applicant became aware of the impugned judgment more than four months later but this observation is not corroborated with anything whatsoever.

It is the considered opinion of the Court that the prescriptions of limitation are not mere technicalities and disregard thereof would render entire law of limitation otiose¹. The Superior Courts have consistently maintained that it is incumbent upon the Courts to first determine whether the proceedings filed there before were within time and the Courts are mandated to conduct such an exercise regardless of whether or not an objection has been taken in such regard². The Superior Courts have held that proceedings barred by even a day could be dismissed³; once time begins to run, it runs continuously⁴; a bar of limitation creates vested rights in favour of the other party⁵; if a matter was time barred then it is to be dismissed without touching upon merits⁶; and once limitation has lapsed the door of adjudication is closed irrespective of pleas of hardship, injustice or ignorance⁷. It has been maintained by the honorable Supreme Court⁸ that each day of delay had to be explained in an application seeking condoning of delay and that in the absence of such an explanation the said application was liable to be dismissed. It is pertinent to observe that the preponderant bar of limitation could not be dispelled by the applicant.

It is settled law that question of limitation has to be addressed by the court at the very onset, each day of delay has to be justified by the applicant. In the present case the applicant has not justified the delay, hence, CMA No.1058 of 2024 is dismissed. As a consequence hereof, the reference application is dismissed being time-barred.

A copy of this decision may also be sent under the seal of this Court and signature of the Registrar to the learned Customs Appellate Tribunal, as required per section 196(10) of the Customs Act, 1969.
