Objections have been submitted on behalf of the department, copy of which has been supplied to counsel for the Petitioner, who submits that the vehicle of the Petitioner which is the subject of this petition is being detained despite the Appellate Order in the field being in favour of the Petitioner, directing that the vehicle be released. He submits that in view thereof, continued detention of the vehicle is illegal and appropriate directions ought to be issued to the department for its release. The only ground raised by counsel in attendance on behalf of the department is that the Order-in-Appeal has been challenged before the Tribunal. That does not of itself confer any sanctity on the continued detention of the vehicle. Under the circumstances, the petition stands disposed of with the department being directed to return the vehicle to the owner in accordance with the Order-in-Appeal.
