ZULFIQAR AHMED KHAN, J: Appellant above-named was tried by learned 1st Additional Sessions Judge/MCTC Judge Badin in Special Narcotic Case No.25 of 2021, arising out of Crime No.122/2021, registered at P.S. 3. During investigation 161 Cr.P.C. statements of the PWs were recorded, recovered substance was sent to the chemical examiner, positive report was received. On the conclusion of investigation, challan was submitted against accused under the above referred Section of CNS Act, 1997.
4. Trial Court framed charge against accused u/s 9(C) of CNS Act, 1997 at Ex.2, to which, he pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.
5. At the trial, prosecution examined PW-1 PC Bhai Khan Incharge Malkhana of police station Matli at Exh.3. He has produced entry of register No.19 at Exh.3/A. P.W.2 HC Muhammad Ashraf depositor of case property at Exh.4. He has produced letter of deposit of case property at Exh.4/A and departure and arrival entries at Exh.4/B and Exh.4/C. He has produced list of FIRs against the accused Lal Bux alias Lal at Exh.8/A and chemical examiner report at Exh.8/B. Thereafter, prosecution side was closed at Ex.9.
6. Statement of appellant/accused was recorded u/s 342 Cr.P.C. at Ex.10, in which appellant claimed false implication in this case and denied the prosecution allegations. Appellant however, neither examined himself on Oath nor produced any evidence in his defence to disprove the prosecution allegations
7. Learned trial Judge after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and examining the evidence available on record, through its judgment dated 18.01.2022 convicted and sentenced the appellant as stated supra.
8. Facts of the prosecution case as well as evidence find an elaborate mention in the judgment of the trial court as such there is no need to repeat the same to avoid unnecessary repetitions.

9. We have heard Mr. Gul Hassan Panhwar, Advocate for appellant, Mr. Shahzado Saleem Nahiyoon, Additional Prosecutor General for the State and perused the entire evidence minutely with their assistance.

10. Learned advocate for appellant has mainly argued that appellant is innocent and has falsely been implicated in the case in hand. He argued that the prosecution story was un-natural and unbelievable. It is also argued that though the place of incident was a thickly populated area but police did not associated any private person to act as mashir nor even they made any effort in this regard. Learned counsel argued that alleged recovery of charas was affected from the accused on 01.08.2021 but the sample was received by the office of chemical examiner on 10.08.2021 i.e. after the delay of nine days and safe custody of charas at Malkhana and its safe transit during that intervening period has not been established at trial. He next submitted that there are also material contradictions in the evidence of prosecution witnesses which have not been considered by the trial court. On the point of safe custody and safe transit, learned counsel for the appellant has placed reliance on the case of Ikramullah & Others V/S. The State (2015 SCMR 1002) and Tariq Pervez V/S. The State (1995 SCMR 1345).

11. On the other hand, learned Deputy Prosecutor General opposed the appeal on the ground that appellant has been apprehended by police having been found in possession of 1100 grams charas. He further contended that at hand is a crime against society and is increasing day by day. Lastly, it is argued that though there are minor contradictions in the evidence of prosecution witnesses but the same are not fatal to the case of prosecution. He prayed for dismissal of the appeal.

12. We have carefully heard the learned counsel for the parties and scanned the entire evidence in the light of case law cited by the counsel for the appellant.

13. In our considered view, prosecution has failed to prove its' case against the appellant for the reasons starting that per FIR the complainant party was on patrolling and during patrolling on spy information they saw the present appellant standing in street near his house having black colour shopper in his hand who was apprehended and recovery of 1100 grams of charas was affected from his possession. It has come on record that the accused was arrested from main street but no independent persons of the locality has been associated in recovery proceedings and only the police officials who are subordinates to him were made as mashirs of arrest and recovery proceedings. It is settled principle that judicial approach has to be a conscious in dealing with the cases in which entire testimony hinges upon the evidence of police officials alone. We are conscious of the fact that provisions of Section 103 Cr.P.C are not attracted to the cases of personal search of accused in narcotic cases but where the alleged recovery was made on a street (as has happened in this case) and the peoples were available there, omission to secure independent mashirs, particularly, in police case cannot be brushed aside lightly by this court. Prime object of Section 103 Cr.P.C is to ensure transparency and fairness on the part of police during course of recovery, curb false implication and minimize the scope of foisting of fake recovery upon accused. There is also no explanation on record why no any independent person from the vicinity has been joined to witness the recovery proceedings. No doubt police witnesses were as good as other independent witnesses and conviction could be recorded on their evidence, but their testimony should be reliable, dependable, trustworthy and confidence worthy and if such qualities were missing in their evidence, no conviction could be passed on the basis of evidence of police witnesses. But here in this case, we have also noted number of contradictions in between the evidence of prosecution witnesses which cannot be easily brushed aside. Above conduct of the police shows that investigation has been carried out in a casual and stereotype manner without making an effort to discover the actual facts/truth.

14. We have also noticed that according to the statement of complainant (PW-3), he recovered the narcotics from appellant on 01.08.2021 and prepared the memo of arrest and recovery and deposited the same in Malkhana. The Report of Director Laboratories & Chemical Examiner (Ex-8/B) reveals that the charas was received by hand in the office on 10.08.2021 through HC Muhammad Ashraf after the delay of nine days but evidence on the record is silent that where the same remained for nine days from 01st August 2021 to 10th August 2021. Similarly, evidence regarding safe transmission of alleged recovered narcotics to the laboratory for chemical analysis is also missing. The law in this regard is settled by now that if safe custody of narcotics and its transmission through safe hands is not established on the record, same cannot be used against the accused. It is also an established position that the chain of custody or safe custody and safe transmission of narcotics begin with seizure of the narcotic by the law enforcement officer, followed by separation of the representative samples of the seized narcotic, storage of the representative samples with the law enforcement agency and then dispatch thereof to the office of the Chemical Examiner for examination and testing. This chain of custody must be safe and secure. Such is because, the Report of Chemical Examiner enjoys very critical and pivotal importance under CNS Act and the chain of custody ensures that correct representative samples reach the office of the Chemical Examiner. Any break or gap in the chain of custody i.e., in the safe custody or safe transmission of the narcotic or its representative samples makes the report of the Chemical Examiner fail to justify conviction of the accused. The prosecution, therefore, is to establish that the chain of custody has remained unbroken, safe, secure and indisputable in order to be able to place reliance on the report of the Chemical Examiner. However, the facts of the present case reveal that the chain of custody has been compromised at more than one occasion, therefore, reliance cannot be placed on the report of the Chemical Examiner to support conviction of the appellant. All such factors suggest the false implication of appellant in this case which cannot be ruled out.

15. It is the matter of record that the charas was recovered from possession of accused on 01.08.2021 and was kept in Malkhana but it has not been proved that it was a safe transit case. On the point of safe custody of charas and its safe transit, the counsel has rightly placed reliance on the case of Ikramullah & Others V/S. The State (2015 SCMR 1002), the relevant portion thereof is reproduced hereunder:-

“5. In the case in hand not only the report submitted by the Chemical Examiner was legally laconic but safe custody of the recovered substance as well as safe transmission of the separated samples to the office of the Chemical Examiner had also not been established by the prosecution. It is not disputed that the investigating officer appearing before the learned trial court had failed to even to mention the name of the police official who had taken the samples to the office of the Chemical Examiner and admittedly no such police official had been produced before the learned trial Court to depose about safe custody of the samples entrusted to him for being deposited in the office of the Chemical Examiner. In this view of the matter the prosecution had not been able to establish that after the alleged recovery the substance so recovered was either kept in safe custody or that the samples taken from the recovered substance had safely been transmitted to the office of the Chemical Examiner without the same being tampered with or replaced while in transit.”

16. In our considered view, prosecution has failed to prove that the charas was in safe custody for the aforementioned period. Even positive report of the chemical examiner would not prove the case of prosecution. There are also several circumstances which created doubt in the prosecution case. It is settled law that it is not necessary that there should many circumstances creating doubts. If there is a single circumstance, which creates reasonable doubt in a prudent mind about the guilt of the accused, then the accused will be entitled to the benefit not as a matter of grace and concession but as a matter of right. In this regard, reliance can be placed upon case of 'Tariq Parvez v. The State' [1995 SCMR 1345] wherein it has been held by Honourable Supreme Court of Pakistan that:

"For giving benefit of doubt to appellant it is not necessary that there should be many circumstances creating doubts. If there is a circumstance which creates reasonable doubt in a prudent mind about the guilt of the accused, then the accused will be entitled to the benefit not as a matter of grace and concession but as matter of right".

17. For the aforementioned reasons, we have no hesitation to hold that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case against the appellant / accused. Resultantly, by our short order dated 20.04.2022, the conviction and sentence recorded by the trial court vide judgment dated 18.01.2022 was set aside and the appeal was allowed. Appellant Lal Bux @ Lal was acquitted of the charge.

18. Above are the reasons of said short order.
