Mr. G.M Bhuto Assistant Attorney General along with

Pakistan

ORDER

Adnan-ul-KarimMemon, J Appellant Alif Zar through instant election appeal has called into question the order dated 29.12.2023 passed by the Returning Officer, PS-116 Karachi West-I, whereby it is alleged that the candidate failed to disclose that he was registered with FBR, which violates Article 62(f) of the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, 1973, hence, the nomination paper of the appellant was rejected.

At the very outset, learned counsel for the appellant submits that the appellant has not concealed his assets willfully and even was not aware that the amount of Rs. 169,900/- was outstanding as utility expenses, however, he agrees that he is ready and willing to clear his dues if the impugned order is set aside. He, therefore, prayed for setting aside the impugned order.

The learned Assistant Attorney General assisted by the learned law officer representing the Election Commission of Pakistan has waived the notice of this appeal due to paucity of time, however, they have opposed this appeal on the analogy so put forward by the Returning Officer.

I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record with their assistance.

The question involved in the present appeal is whether the rejection of the nomination papers of the appellant is justified under the election law. Whether the defect as pointed out by the learned Law Officer is substantial or curable?

Primarily, Articles 62 and 63 of the Constitution reveal that one deals with the qualifications of a person to be elected or chosen as a member of Parliament while the other deals with disqualifications of a person not only from being elected or chosen but also from being a member of Parliament. If a candidate is not qualified or is disqualified from being elected or chosen as a member of Parliament in terms of Articles 62 and 63 of the Constitution, his nomination could be rejected by the Returning Officer or any other forum functioning in the hierarchy. But where the returned candidate was not, on the nomination day, qualified for or disqualified from being elected or chosen as a member, his election could be declared void by the Election Tribunal constituted under Article 225 of the Constitution. While election of a member whose disqualification was overlooked, illegally condoned or went unquestioned on the nomination day before the Returning Officer or before the Election Tribunal, could still be challenged under Article 199(1)(b)(ii) of the Constitution of Pakistan, 1973 as was held by the Supreme Court in the cases of Lt. Col. Farzand Ali and others v. Province of West Pakistan through the Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Government of West Pakistan, Lahore (PLD 1970 SC 98) and Syed Mehmood Akhtar Naqvi v. Federation of Pakistan through Secretary Law and others (PLD 2012 SC 1054). However, disqualifications envisaged by Article 62(1) (f) and Article 63(2) of the Constitution because of words used therein have to be dealt with differently. In the former case, the Returning Officer or any other fora in the hierarchy would not reject the nomination of a person from being elected as a Member of Parliament unless a court of law has given a declaration that he is not sagacious, righteous, non-profligate, honest and Ameen. Even the Election Tribunal, unless it proceeds to give the requisite declaration based on the material before it, would not disqualify the returned candidate where no declaration, as mentioned above, has been given by a court of law. The expression “a court of law” has not been defined in Article 62 or any other provision of the Constitution but it essentially means a court of plenary jurisdiction, which has the power to record evidence and give a declaration based on the evidence so recorded. Such a court would include a court exercising original, appellate, or revisional jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. But in any case, a court or a forum lacking plenary jurisdiction cannot decide questions of this nature at least when disputed. In the latter case when any question arises whether a member of Parliament has become disqualified it shall be dealt with only by the Election Commission on a reference from the Speaker of the Parliament in terms of Articles 63(2) and 63(3) of the Constitution.

Insofar as the liabilities and the rejection of the nomination papers of the appellant are concerned, again the contention of the learned law officer appears to be not justified as the appellant was/is ready to clear his dues if any within two days and other grounds raised by the law officer is not tenable. As under section 62(9) of the Elections Act,2017, the Returning Officer shall not reject a nomination paper on the ground of any defect that is not substantial and may allow such defect to be remedied forthwith and failure on the part of the returning officer to allow rectifying and amending any infirmity within his/her nomination form as provided in Section 62 (9 (d) (ii) of the Elections Act 2017 violates the law.

The above-discussed essential element of disqualification about non-declaration of an asset within the ambit of Article 62(1)(f) of the Constitution has also been recognized in the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Muhammad Hanif Abbasi v. Imran Khan Niazi (PLD 2018 SC 189) and in the present case, there is no such declaration against the appellant as such the findings of the Returning Officer that the information provided by the appellant appears to be false is an erroneous decision on the part of Returning Officer which is set at naught, for the simple reason that the Returning Officer has limited jurisdiction.

For the aforesaid reasons, this appeal is allowed. The impugned order dated 29.12.2023 passed by the Returning Officer, PS-116 Karachi West-I, is set aside and the Returning Officer is directed to include the name of the appellant in the list of contesting elections for PS-116 Karachi West-I subject to clearance of his dues within two days.
